Supposed Clue in Quinn Murder Case Proved to Be Not a Clue—No. 14 Commencement Exercises.

Information was received at the Jackson street police station yesterday afternoon of a possible clue in the Quinn murder case, and two representatives of The Tribune started out to make an investigation.

The information was furnished by a young man residing on Meridian street, who is a pupil at No. 14 school. In company with another boy, the informant journeyed over to the Sloan woods yesterday morning, and on the return trip found a shirt, partially torn, and saturated with what they supposed was blood.

The young man in question told of his discovery on reaching home, and shortly afterwards the information was communicated to Patrolman Collins, who was in charge of the station house. Patrolmen Marker and McDonald had started out towards Keyser Valley to cut down some effigies.

Meantime The Tribune men hastened to the scene in a carriage, accompanied by the boy who furnished the information. A telephone message was sent to Marker and McDonald through Hotel-keeper Gibbons, of Luzerne street, and when it reached them, they, too, started off in the direction of the Sloan woods. The boy led the way out beyond the Round Woods to a point at Bryn Mawr and Thirteenth streets, in the plot recently opened. The location was on an almost direct line with the scene of the murder, and at a point which the murderer was supposed to have passed in his flight.

The shirt was located just where the boys left it, but an examination revealed the fact that instead of being saturated with blood, it was covered with red paint, which at first glance resembles blood. The shirt was taken to the station house.

No. 14 Commencement.

The graduating class of No. 14 school, which will enter the High school next fall, held their commencement exercises yesterday afternoon, which were attended by many parents and pupils from other rooms in the building. School Controllers John H. Phillips and A. B. Eynon were present.

The principal, Prof. H. L. Morgan, and his assistants, Misses Sarah F. Clarke and Rachel Jones, were in charge of the exercises, and were assisted by Misses Anna Munson and Margaret Jamison, and the pupils of the Grammar B grade.

At 2 o'clock the exercises began with a song by the school, and Miss Emma France read the class history. Miss Mattie Poole followed with a solo, "The Sweet Summer Time," and Miss Pearl Thomas recited. After a piano solo by Miss Pearl Sanker, Miss Maude Schrumf read the class prophecy.

All their efforts were highly appreciated, and received merited applause from parents and pupils alike. The school rendered another song, and a chorus of boys sang "Down Where the Cotton Blossoms Grow." Miss Anna M. Jones recited, and Theodore Bauer and Lewis Lewis played a violin duet, and were encored.

The class presentation was an amusing feature, in which Lester Oliver gave the various graduates miniature presents and toys. Chester Davis sang a solo, and Anna and Margaret Phillips sang a duet. Miss Margaret Cummings played a piano solo, and Wilbur Stevens read the class will. The exercises were closed with a song by the school.

The members of the graduating class are as follows: Misses Ruth Acker, Helen M. Bass, Lois Beddoe, Annie Crane, Helen Corbin, Margaret Cummings, Ethel Chase, Loretta Dapell, Francis Dimmick, Alice Dean, Blanche Evans, Edna Evans, Beth Evans, Jennie Eynon, Emma France, Florence M. Fowler, Florence A. Fowler, Phoebe Gealey, Euphemia Gibbs, Helen Hagen, Anna M. Jones, Bessie Jones, Pearl Jeffrey, Nellie Lally, Flora Lewis, Donzella Lumley, Margaret Lavelle, Gertrude Moore, Cecelia Moran, Anna Phillips, Cassie Noble, Margaret Phillips, Mattie Poole, Irene Reynolds, Mamie Robinson, Stella Shaw, Belle Snyder, Minnie Smith, Gertrude Smith, Jennie Seal, Maud Schrumf, Cora Teague, Lillian Tewksbury, Pearl Thomas, Florence Watrous, Emily Thomas, Margaret Watkins, Beatrice Williams, Esther Williams.

Russell Bush, Allen Bauer, Chester Davis, Arthur Gibbs, Hayden Jenkins, Stanley Kresky, Joseph Kenney, Lewis Lewis, Lester Oliver, Evan Roberts, Wilbur Stevens, Eckley Schooley, John Teleyah, Willie Trostel, John Williams, Arch Williams.

A Novel Method.

The following incident of the strike, concerning a well-known resident of West Scranton, appeared in a Philadelphia newspaper recently:

"A crowd of strikers were dispersed this morning at the William A. mine by Frank Shedd, a clerk. On the hill a large crowd of men gathered. They were armed with powerful slings, and had a large stock of bullets, buckshot and stones as ammunition. Every time a guard appeared he was greeted with a fusillade. A coal and iron policeman fired several shots over the heads of the crowd, but the assailants continued hostilities.

"At this point young Shedd walked out and advanced alone up the hill on the howling mob. When he was within easy distance of their firing line, he took out a notebook and told them that he was going to take down the names of all he recognized and have warrants issued. He was greeted with jeers and a volley of rocks, but he went on, coolly scanning the scowling faces before him, and when he saw one he recognized wrote his name down in the notebook. "The deadly notebook overawed the crowd more than the policemen's pistols had done. After Shedd had written down five names it began to disintegrate and soon vanished."

Disturbers Were Fined.

The four men who caused the disturbance at Quinn's place, on Keyser street, Tuesday evening, were arrested on warrants Wednesday night and given a hearing in police court yesterday morning.

The evidence was sufficient to fine them for disorderly conduct. Their names and fines were: Frank Luke, $10; Joseph Kanagaski, $7.50; Michael Kanagaski, $7.50; Frank Mabrick, $7.50. All of them paid up and were released. The arrests were made by Patrolmen Bradshaw and Huntington and citizen P. Roach.
